

Meet the Steering Group

RÉSEAU DE RECHERCHE SUR LA MOBILITÉ CLIMATIQUE EN AFRIQUE (RRMCA)

Meet the Steering Group

The CMARN Steering Group provides overall leadership and coordination of core CMARN activities. Meet the members of the Steering Group below!

Dr Nicodemus Nyandiko

Masinde Muliro University of Science & Technology, Kenya
(Co-Chair)

Dr Nicodemus Nyandiko is a Senior Lecturer/Researcher in the Department of Disaster Management and Sustainable Development of Masinde Muliro University of Science and Technology (MMUST), Kenya. He holds a PhD in Disaster Management and Sustainable Development and is a member of the Africa Science and Technology Advisory Group for Disaster Risk Reduction. His research interests spanning over a 20-year period focus on food security, climate change and disaster risk reduction. Dr Nyandiko is the Co-Chair of the CMARN Steering Group.

Email: nnyandiko@mmust.ac.ke

Dr Tamara Wood

Kaldor Centre for International Refugee Law UNSW, Australia
(Co-Chair)

Dr Wood is a Visiting Fellow at the Andrew & Renata Kaldor Centre for International Refugee Law, UNSW Sydney, and a Postdoctoral Researcher (external) at the Hertie School, Berlin. Her research interests are in international and regional refugee law, disaster and climate-related mobility, free movement of persons agreements and complementary pathways to protection. She has published widely on these topics and acted as a consultant and advisor to the Platform on Disaster Displacement, Nansen Initiative on Disaster-Induced Cross-Border Displacement, United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, Institute for Security Studies Africa and the World Bank. Dr Wood is the Co-Chair of the CMARN Steering Group.

Email: tamara.wood@unsw.edu.au

Twitter: @tamarajanewood

Professor Edwin Abuya
University of Nairobi, Kenya

Professor Abuya holds a doctorate in Juridical Studies from the University of Sydney. His areas of research lie in human rights, legal theory, constitutional law, and legal writing. He has published widely and advised international agencies and government on these themes. He has taught law in Australia, the United Kingdom, the United States, and South Africa. Prof. Abuya is a principal organizing partner and member of the Steering Group for the Virtual Workshop Series.

Email: edwina@uonbi.ac.ke

Dr Oluwatoyin Adejonwo
University of Lagos, Nigeria

Dr Adejonwo is a lecturer at the Faculty of Law, University of Lagos. She holds a doctorate in International Environmental Law from the School of Law, University of Dundee. Her research interests and expertise span governance of the climate change process, the legal and regulatory frameworks governing the process, and the linkages with sustainable development, climate finance, and climate adaptation and mitigation. Dr Adejonwo is a Senior Lecturer at the Faculty of Law, University of Lagos and a Solicitor and Advocate of the Supreme Court of Nigeria. She has taught environmental law at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels at universities in Scotland and South Africa. She serves on the Committee of Experts providing legal, advisory and technical support on climate change to the Department of Climate Change (DCC) of the Federal Ministry of Environment, Nigeria.

Email: oadejonwoosho@yahoo.com

Dr Annette Okoth
Masinde Muliro University of Science & Technology, Kenya

Dr. Annette Okoth is a Lecturer/Researcher (Statistics) at the Department of Mathematics of Masinde Muliro University of Science and Technology (MMUST), Kenya, and Fellow, Africa Science Leadership Programme (University of Pretoria). She holds a PhD in Statistics, her area of specialization being Statistical Modeling. Her research interests are Gender, Education and Mobility. Dr Okoth is a member of the CMARN Steering Group.

Email: aokoth@mmust.ac.ke

Professor Ademola Jegede
University of Venda, South Africa

Professor Ademola Oluborode Jegede is a Professor of Law and an NRF-rated researcher in the School of Law, University of Venda, Thohoyandou, South Africa. He holds degrees from Obafemi Awolowo University Ile-Ife, University of Ibadan and the Centre for Human Rights, Faculty of Law, University of Pretoria. He has been a research visitor to the Centre for International Environmental Law, USA and Human Rights Institute at Abo Akademi, Finland. His research principally focuses on the interface of climate change and biodiversity loss with the human rights of vulnerable populations.

Email: ademola.jegade@univen.ac.za

Twitter: @jegedeademola

Dr Cheikh Tidiane Wade
Assane Seck University, Senegal

Dr Cheikh Tidiane Wade is a geographer at Assane Seck University, Senegal. Since 2009, he has been working on climate change issue with UN-Habitat's Cities and Climate Change Initiative (CCCI), a program that seeks to enhance the preparedness and mitigation activities of cities in developing countries. Since 2014, he has been coordinating the PRISE program in West Africa, a research program that aims to catalyse inclusive climate resilient development in African and Asian semi-arid lands (SALs). Dr Wade is a member of the Research Group on Migration and Society in Gaston Berger University.

Email: ct.w@univ-zig.sn

Twitter: @ctwade1

Dr Caroline Zickgraf
Hugo Observatory, University of Liège, Belgium

Dr Caroline Zickgraf is the Deputy Director of the Hugo Observatory: Environment, Migration, Politics in the Department of Geography and Research Fellow at UR-SPHERES at the University of Liège. Dr Zickgraf's main areas of research are the migratory impacts of climate change on coastal populations, transnationalism, migration and sustainability, and (im)mobility, primarily in West Africa. She has consulted widely on the links between climate change and migration, including for the World Bank, the Nansen Initiative on Disaster-Induced Cross-Border Displacement and the International Center for Migration Policy Development (ICMPD). She holds a BA (Michigan State University) and an MPhil in migration history (Leiden University) and a PhD in Political and Social Sciences (University of Liège).

Email: caroline.zickgraf@uliege.be

Twitter: @CKZickgraf

Christina Daszkiewicz, International Organization for Migration (IOM) (observer)

Christina Daszkiewicz works with the Migration, Environment and Climate Change Division of IOM. She currently is a project support officer for Implementing Global Policies on Environmental Migration and Disaster Displacement in West Africa. She holds a Masters of Law in Natural Resources and International Environmental from the University of Iceland. Prior to joining IOM, Christina has worked with the Stockholm Environment Institute (SEI), the Norwegian Refugee Council (NRC) and the Platform on Disaster Displacement (PDD) on related themes. She is interested in the integrated implementation of policies from different fields related to displacement and migration in the context of disasters, environmental degradation and climate change, and the evaluation of such implementation.

Email: cdaszkiewicz@iom.int